THE Houston Age does not think that Judge Hancock will be entered this year in any political contest. THE apportionment bill has passed both houses and gone to to treat them as penitentiary the President for his signature. Texas gets eleven members instead of six, thus opening the doors for new aspirants for congressional honors. We suggest Major Dan, McGary for the district in which Houston may be located. Dan could tell the democratic members of congress exactly what to do and of the democratic party and not ow to do it. ing corps of the Santa Fe road reached there on Friday evening, having run a line from Quarry station to Navasota, crossing the Brazos near the falls above Washington. Grading, it is said, will commence from Navasota westward in about six weeks. The question now arrises, will the business men and property owners of Brenham preserve a masterly inactivity and sit like young mocking birds, with their mouths open, waiting for some one to build railroads for their benefit, without so much as even asking for them? The Banner has said so much about this Navasota extension that it they want the legislature to do dislikes to say more. It believes that a large majority of the business men and property owners of Brenham are friendly towards the Santa Fe railway, the building of which has done much for the advancement and improvement of this city, and uply because half a dozen, or such a matter, of contrary men are inimical to the Santa Fe railway company, is certainly no reason why the wishes and intersts of a majority should be set aside and the golden opportunity of securing the Central and Montgomery extension be allowed to go by without even an effort being made to secure it. If any action is to be taken no time should be lost.

THE Fort Worth Democrat-Advance, a most excellent democratic paper, handles the Old Alcalde without gloves. It says he first tries to make fair weather with the farmers by telling them that civingation begins and ends with the plow and then he turns round and tells the stockmen that the agriculturist should not be permitted to run his civilizer, the plow, beyoud the one hundredth meri-He is accused of being in his dotage, both politically and physically and he is rapidly decaying both as a politician and a statesman. The Democrat-Advance is of the opinion that the Old Alcalde, having served Texas 40 years in public positions, should now retire to private life and spend the reainder of his days in peace and quietude. THE Bellvill Times gives a little sound advice to voters. It says vote for no man because he can treat and drink barrels with you. Vote for no officer who has made himself obnoxious to the complaints of unfairness in his office. Vote for the candidate whom you respect and can trust to do his official duty fully, promptly and without fear or favor. This is just what the BANNER has been urging for some time, and until it is done we may expect but little change for the better Simply because a man belongs to this or that party and is a good soshould be voted for; proper qualifications are necessary in addition to being a good fellow.

THE Houston Post says the appointment of Mr. Pinchback to the collectorship of New Orleans is generally regarded by all parties as a blunder. The objection against Pinch is not so much that he is a colored man as that he has an unsavor reputation. Mr. Arthur and party in the past and he is now eaping his reward.

The Tyler Courier is correct A Navasota special to the Houston Post says the surveyin saying that in the approaching canvass the wants of the people will be made known and as the party in power is with the people, their wants will receive the attention of the law making power. The next legislature will have weighty responsibilities upon it, and hence the people cannot be too 'careful in selecting honorable and honest men to fill the offices. They should be democratic of course. These ideas are precisely the same as the BANNER has been advocaring, and they are sound and democratic to the core. What is wanted is, that the people themselves should have something to say about what and not to leave everything in the hands of the politicians. It should be thoroughly understood that the people are the democratic party and not the politicians, who have heretofore delegated to themselves the rights of the people. There has lately been a very marked change in public opinion, a majority of the best and most influential papers in the state are taking a liberal and conservative view of the situation, notably among those papers may be mentioned the Dallas Herald, Waco Examiner, Fort Worth Democrat-Advance, San Antonio Express, Galveston Daily Journal, Belton Journal and Georgetown Record, all wellconducted democratic journals. The Tyler Courier, heretofore inclined to Burbonism, seems to have changed its ideas a little. To the list may be added Gainesville Register, Paris North Texan and Meridian Blade. It may truthfully be said that these papers speak the sentiments of the people, though all well-regulated newspapers are generally leaders in public sentiment. It will be perhaps three months before the state canvass opens, and in the meantime the people should talk and reason together so that they may know exactly what they want and may be able to select proper men for the legislature. this talk and discussion will, however, go for nothing unless the people make up their minds to attend the primary meetings. The local politicians and slate makers in the counties must be sat down upon, or it will be of no use going through the old formula of hold-

PRESIDENT ARTHUR is rapidly becoming complete master of the situation. Grant is retired, Conkling will soon be on the supreme bench and Blaine is squelched. The half-breeds are going to the wall and the Chicago Inter-Ocean hoists Arthur's name for the presidency in 1884.

Among the weekly papers of Texas the Colorado Citizen is certainly entitled to the front rank. It is very carefully edited and gives a large amount of that cannot be said of all the papers in Texas. FLIPPER, the colored lieutentenant, is not to be dismissed from the army, as he was not found guilty of embezzlement. General Garrison and other officers have written to the president that Flipper is not a bad person, and that he ought to be given another trial.

MARSHAL is promised the machine shops of the New Orleans and Pacific railway, which is to intersect the Texas Pacific at that point. Manager Hoxie assures the people of Marshall that the shops will be placed there as New Orleans is subject to epidemics,
